"There are no fixed fronts in Vietnam, nothing to separate friend from enemy, civilian from military."

LOS ANGELES — Harry Ashmore, a Pulitzer Prize winner recently returned from Hanoi where he talked with North Vietnamese officials:

"They believe honestly they cannot be defeated and therefore they are disposed to make no major concessions."

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield on the Republican version of the state of the union which the GOP titled "Sensible Solutions for the 70s":

A Bible Thought For Today

The Lord God is my strength, and he will make my feet like hinds' feet, and he will make me walk upon mine high places. —Habakkuk 3:19.

God, through His Spirit, enables us to climb dangerously unto the high places of life where prayer is wont to be made and strength received.

LEDGER & TIMES FILE

Mrs. Fannie Hicks passed away January 18 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Franklin Wells on Route Three, Murray. Holmes Ellis was named president of the Calloway County Farm Bureau at the annual meeting held yesterday. He succeeds B. W. Edmonds. Leon Chambers was named vice-president.

Several factors contributed to the heartbreaking loss to Morehead here yesterday, including injuries, lack of hustle, and free throw deficit, but in the words of Coach Rex Alexander, "Murray lost because of defensive errors."

Over one hundred boys and parents gathered at the Broadway Methodist Church in Paducah for the first Jamboree Rally in preparation for the 4th National Jamboree to be held at Valley Forge this July. W. B. Moser, Murray Explorer leader, will be one of six leaders going with the local contingent of 74 boys.

The Rest of the News

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Friday, Jan. 20, the 20th day of 1967 with 345 to follow.

The moon is approaching the full stage.

The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

American figure skater Carol Heiss was born on this day in 1946.

On this day in history:

In 1804, President John Adams appointed John Marshall of Virginia Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1892, students at the Springfield, Mass., YMCA played the first official basketball game. The game was invented by Dr. James Naismith to provide indoor exercise.

In 1934, Britain's King George V died.

In 1965, Lyndon Baines Johnson was inaugurated for his first elected term as President of the United States.

A thought for the day — American educator Nicholas Murray Butler said, "An expert is one who knows more and more about less and less."

Yet there was something peculiar about the signatures. In the handwriting of the signatures, there was a certain similarity.

As for handwriting itself, they have succeeded in identifying hundreds of characteristics that make one person's penmanship different from another's.

How persuasive is this kind of evidence in the courtroom? Generally speaking, of course, a comparison of handwriting is not as precise as a comparison of fingerprints or of the markings on bullets.

Often, too, there is simply not enough of the questioned writing (or of reliable samples for comparison) to justify a firm conclusion.

Nevertheless, when the document examiner has enough material to work with, his findings may play a decisive role in proving that two writings, seemingly alike, are different.

He may even perform the more difficult feat of showing that two writings, seemingly different, are alike.

In a "poison pen" case, the accused author denied that he had written the letters in question. To be sure, the handwriting in the letters seemed to be totally different from the customary handwriting of the defendant.

Yet document detectives were able to reveal so many subtle similarities that they tilted the scales against the defendant.

As one judge put it:

"Handwriting is always in some degree the reflex of the nervous organization of the writer, which unconsciously causes him to sign his individuality in his writing."

Medicare hospital insurance pays the full cost of semi-private room and board for the first 20 days in an extended care facility and all but $5 a day for the next 80 days. Also covered is physical, occupational and speech therapy given the patient while in the extended care facility. Hesse emphasized that Medicare does not, however, cover primarily custodial or personal care in a nursing home, residential home for the aged, or the like.

Extended care benefits are payable only if a physician certifies that skilled nursing care is necessary for continuing treatment of a condition for which the patient was hospitalized. A recertification of the continuing need for care must be made by the 14th day of the stay and at least every 30 days thereafter.

As in the case of hospitals, Hesse said, extended care facilities must also have a utilization review committee to periodically review Medicare cases.

Doctors' services received by the beneficiary while in the extended care facility are covered by medical insurance under Medicare, if the beneficiary is one of the 17.5 million persons who have signed up for this supplementary medical insurance protection at a cost of $3 per month to the beneficiary.

Construction of the Sanders Road Bridge is part of the relocation work in connection with the J. Percy Priest Project. Costing more than $440,000 the bridge and approaches are part of the Nashville District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers development of Stones River.

Contract on this part of the relocation program is being performed by Omas Construction Co. of Nashville. This phase of the work is about 16 per cent completed.

Lovely Formal Tea Given In Honor Of Miss Ann Russell

Miss Ann Russell whose marriage to James Wayne Harris will be an event of January 28 was the honoree at a lovely formal tea held at the Murray Woman's Club House on Tuesday, January 17, between the hours of three to five o'clock in the afternoon.

The gracious hostesses for the special occasion were Miss Cuppie Beale, Mrs. Jack Kennedy, Mrs. Joe Baker Littleton, Mrs. Jack Beale Kennedy, Mrs. J. I. Hosick, Mrs. W. P. Russell, and Mrs. Charles White of Odessa. Removing the guests with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. A. W. Russell, Miss Cuppie Beale, and Mrs. W. P. Russell.

For the bride the house-ree chose to wear from her trousseau an aqua sheath with matching shoes. Her mother was attired in a two piece dress of yellow and white with shoes to match. Their hostesses' gift corages were of symmetrical ovals, white with green accents.

The beautifully appointed tea table was draped with an imported velvet from Odessa and centered with a gorgeous arrangement of white tulips, anemones, fuji mums, and greenery in a green glass epergne flanked by a pair of silver candelabra holding burning white candles. The color scheme of green and white was used.

Dainty sandwiches, cakes, party decorative minis, punch, and coffee were served. The appointments were all in silver.

Miss Mary Keys Russell, sister of the honoree, presided at the lunch table and Mrs. Joe Baker Littleton served the coffee.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Jack Beale Kennedy, assisted by Mrs. J. I. Hosick and Mrs. Jack Kennedy. Miss Mary Ann Littleton presided at the register table.

Lovely music was furnished throughout the afternoon by Miss Trudy Lilly, Miss Ann Kay Sanders, and Miss Judy Howard.

The mantle and hearth were decorated and made a lovely background for the afternoon occasion. A large arrangement of white gladioli with a row of white candles a glow on each side was on the mantle. Lace ferns were banded around the fireplace.

Those assisting the hostesses during the afternoon were Mesdames W. Z. Carter, H. O. Warren, George Hart, E. J. Beale, James Rudy Albritton, and C. C. Dowry; Messrs. Gail Thurman, Janice Thornton, Dorothy Alice

Give Wendell Back to 'Wonderful' Mom

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 55-year-old Mama's boy who gave his girl friend an engagement ring in 1959, but she can't show it to anybody because he doesn't want his mother to find out?

Well, I am the girl friend. I have gone with Wendell for 10 years and I am pretty sick of this setup. I met his mother just once, when Wendell carried her to the foot doctor. He let me go along for the ride. He never told her I was his girl friend, tho. The problem is, Wendell's mother has money and she says if he marries she will leave it all to the church.

He was so confused two years ago he wrote to you, and you told him to talk to his pastor. He said he did and the pastor told him he was lucky to have such a wonderful mother.

What am I supposed to do now? I am 45 and not getting any younger.

WENDELL'S GIRL: DEAR GIRL: Put the ring through Wendell's nose and send him to his mother.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, have been working for four years and feel that I am ready to settle down. I have been dating a successful 28-year-old business man. He owns his own home, car, boat, and seems to have plenty of spending money. We have dated for more than a year and his family tells me I am the only girl he has dated more than once.

He says he "cares" for me, but he has never said, "I love you." He seems to enjoy my company, but he has never spoken in terms of the future as far as "we" are concerned. My mother says I am wasting my time with him. Should I pin him down and ask him what his intentions are?

Puzzled

DEAR PUZZLED: No! If his intentions are to marry you, he doesn't need any prompting. If his intentions are to go with you as long as you'll go with him without committing himself, he'll drop you before he admits it. Don't count on this one. And don't pass up any other good bets if they appear.

DEAR ABBY: I love my parents very much, but here is my problem. When they ask me to baby sit with my younger sisters and brothers they never tell me where they can be reached in case of emergency. I have baby sat for others, but they always leave a number where I can reach them. Sometimes my parents will leave on Friday and stay away until Sunday night and I never know where they've been until they come back and tell me.

I have asked them many times to please give me some idea of where they are going, but they say, "We don't know. If anything happens, call the ambulance." My parents have been married for 20

Stopping Spread Of Rabies Is Game Management Problem

By United Press International
LARRY MCGINN, assistant chief of the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission, said the Commission's effort to stop the spread of rabies into West Tennessee will continue next week with operations extending into DeKalb and Henderson counties.

The control operation consists of the use of poisoned baits in an attempt to reduce high fox populations, McGinn said.

"This is the first major report of rabies west of Kentucky Lake in recent years and we would like to stop the spread right there," McGinn said. "We feel our control work can be effective in helping to reduce the spread because we have been successful in decreasing the high fox population in past operations."

McGinn said that control methods are utilized under stringent safety precautions.

"We may put out several hundred baits in a given area, but when the operation there is completed, we can account for every bait," McGinn said.

Television Viewers Still Convinced

Since Green Bay defeated Kansas City 35-16, there were those who felt that because the losers had to be at least fairly super to get into the game, there was simply no superlative still available in television that was adequate to describe the winners.

Like the game itself, the menu provided for visitors by NBC-TV was unforgettable. The hot dogs were prodigious, the mustard was simply incomparable and the relish was—well, good is a fair word. The drinks were studious, wondrous, extraordinary.

Difficult to describe
How can one describe the job of knowing that one was watching a Super Bowl game? It is difficult. For example, what term can one affix to the recent GreenBay-Dallas contest, which was merely a championship encounter and was better? Or to anyone of a flat full of National Football League games this season that were better?

Well, it is a super problem, all right. But joking the club, be a good fellow, take your cut of the action and don't ask too many questions. That's the way to move in the super-quantity era. But after the second half of Sunday's game, don't make fun any more of Cassius Clay's fights. At last report, there was a rampant feeling that the next pro football climax game should be called the super-duper bowl, regardless of who plays.

said. "Of course, all pets are kept in quarantine while our control operations are being conducted."

McGinn said the operations in DeKalb and Henderson counties will run for about ten days and will involve 12 two-man crews.

The commission points out that the off-season winter months provide an opportunity for boating enthusiasts to get ready for the boating season.

The commission said that boaters should make sure that the proper safety equipment is available and all mechanical devices are in working order. "By far the most citations written during the past boating season were issued because each passenger in the boat had not been provided some sort of lifesaving device," David Goodrich, commission assistant director in charge of the boating program said. "Even the most expensive life preserver becomes inexpensive when compared with a human life, so there is no reason why one cannot be provided for everyone aboard."

Hi Hi Brown, chief of the public relations division of the commission, announced that the first woman to hold a representative position in the public relations division of the commission has resigned her position effective this weekend.

Mrs. Kathy Steber will join her husband, Lt. Robert Steber Jr. in Germany.

Brown said a replacement for Mrs. Steber has not yet been named.

Unitas Gets Call Over Starr For Pro Bowl

By JOE ST. AMANT
United Press International
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Baltimore's Johnny Unitas got the starting call today over Green Bay's Bart Starr for Sunday's 17th annual National Football League Pro Bowl at Memorial Coliseum between East and West All-Stars.

West Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams explained the choice of the Colt quarterback as lead-off man by saying:

"Bart is coming off the pressure of the Super Bowl game. Unitas has more pro bowl experience and he's been named player of the game three times."

Starr led the Packers to a 35-10 win over the Kansas City Chiefs, champions of the American Football League, last Sunday at the coliseum.

Meredith Calling Signals
East Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys said he will start his own quarterback, Don Meredith in a unit including Cleveland's Leroy Kelly at halfback, Gary Collins, also of the Cowboys, at flanker and Sayers of the Chicago Bears at halfback, and Pat Studstill of Detroit at fullback.

Landry has Cleveland's Frank Ryan as backup quarterback.

Teaming with Unitas in the starting unit for the West will be Dick Bass of the Rams at fullback, Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears at halfback, and Pat Studstill of Detroit at fullback.

Allen said he may switch Sayers to a spread end position and then would show Ken Wilkard of the San Francisco Forty-Niners into the halfback spot.

Landry will substitute freely, he indicated.

"Everybody is going to play," said the Texan.

Each squad has 36 men. The winners get $1,500 each while the losers have to be content with $900.

Landry has available nine of his own Cowboys—including speedster Bob Hayes, the starter at split end. Allen has eight members of the world champion Packers to toy with including Starr, Herb Adderley, Willie Davis, Forrest Green, Henry Jordan, Dave Robinson, Bob Skoronski, and Willie Wood.

Net proceeds go to charity—local boys' clubs—and the sponsors expect a crowd of about 50,000. Tickets sell for $5.50, $4.00 and $3.00. The game will be telecast nationally by CBS but the Los Angeles area will be blacked out.

Goose Tatum Dies At Home On Wednesday

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Goose Tatum once said, "I'll keep playing until the people stop laughing."

After nearly 30 years, basketball fans around the world had a reason to stop laughing Wednesday when Goose, the "clown prince of basketball," died unexpectedly at his home.

Tatum, 45, a former member of the Zany Harlem Globetrotters, had battled a chronic liver ailment for the past two years.

Characteristically, Tatum was planning to fly to Dallas where the Harlem Road Kings were scheduled to play a "Goose Tatum Day" benefit game Saturday night. "Goose" formed the Road Kings several years ago when he split away from the Globetrotters.

Tatum was planning to disobey doctor's orders to rest six months because there were people in Dallas, just as there are everywhere, who needed to laugh.

"I couldn't let all those people down by not being there," he said. "I'll even play some."

The game will still be played as a benefit to the Goose.

Marquis Haynes, who was killed as the world's greatest dribbler when he was a teammate of Tatum's on the Globetrotters, will be at the game along with Sugarfoot Johnson and many of Tatum's old friends on the Globetrotters.

Haynes plans to take a night off from his own team, the Harlem Magicians, to fly to Dallas and sub for Tatum in the game.

Funeral services were scheduled for 10 a. m. Friday with private services at the Fort Bliss National Cemetery. Tatum served in the Army from 1942 to 1945.

Mrs. Tatum said she will be at

Big Lew Alcindor Leads The Nation In Cager Scoring

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lew Alcindor is an average scorer—for a 7-1 college basketball player—and his average is enough to regain the national scoring lead.

Alcindor, hitting a 29.7 clip the previous week, rose slightly to 29.8 points per contest for games ending Jan. 14, according to official NCAA statistics released today. The UCLA ace scored 91 points in three games during that stretch and continued his game of switch with Jimmy Walker of Providence, who dropped to second place with a 29.5 average that fell from 31.0 of the previous week.

Bob Lloyd of Rutgers was idle and remained third with a 29.3 record, while Cliff Anderson of St. Joseph's Pa. improved upon his fourth place mark with a 28.1 average on 481 points, tops in major college ranks.

Alcindor's field goal accuracy, however, suffered as his percentage slipped from .691 to .678. Bruce Stinesbrieker of Georgetown took over second place with .647.

Lloyd kept this lead in free throw shooting at a 94.3 percentage and Ron Coleman of Missouri moved into the number-up slot at 91.3. Dick Cunningham of Murray State unseated season-long leader Westley Unseld of Louisville in rebounds when he moved up with a 22.3 average on 267 retrieves for 12 games. Unseld was 21.7 in 15 contests.

There were no changes among the team leaders in games through Jan. 14.

Northwestern, idle from the previous period, led with a 96.7 offensive scoring average and Memphis the game in Dallas Saturday.

"It's what he would want," she said. "He has asked that instead of flowers that people donate to medical research so that someday it might help someone else not to have to go through this."

A FIVE YEAR PLAN FOR THE CITY OF MURRAY

[Which We May Complete In Two Or Three Years]

To Increase Our Electricity Capacity SIX TIMES

Over What The City Used Last Winter
All This At No Extra Expense To The Citizens Of Murray

This Big Project Is Now Half Done

We will not go into all the technical details and engineering that it will take to increase the power capacity of the City of Murray by SIX TIMES, but take our word for it these are our plans.

We are doing such things as increasing the voltage on present lines, putting in new insulation to carry this higher load, putting in transformers of higher capacity and installing higher capacity switches.

All smaller sub-stations are being phased out and the city will be served by the large sub-station near the water system plant just off South Fourth Street and another large and new sub-station just west of North 18th Street.

The purpose behind all this is several fold. It will insure present and future home owners of ample electricity for heating, air-conditioning, lighting and the operation of many electrical appliances and tools.

It insures that future industry will have ample electrical energy for all their needs.

It means that as the university grows they will have no fear of any electric shortage.

And it means that as the City of Murray grows and expands, that the Murray Electric System and its service is staying well ahead of this growth.

Electricity is economical, electricity is clean, electricity is safe. Our job is to make sure that you have plenty of it today . . . tomorrow . . . and in the future.

This is the reason for increasing the electrical capacity of the city to a high degree, so that all phases of it business, industry and residential areas, might grow develop and expand and never have to worry about the electricity supply.

As we said in the beginning, this is our five year plan, but we may finish it in two or three. Murray Electric System employees are doing this work, in addition to normal maintenance, connections, and other routine work, at no additional cost to the citizens of Murray.

We are happy to work for you, our customers, and planning ahead is just one part of our big job.

Always Looking Ahead So We Can Meet Future Demands

T.V.A. Weekly Letter

Employment in the Tennessee Valley region has passed two million for the first time, a milestone in the region's economic growth, Directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority told the President and Congress in the agency's 33rd annual report.

Released today, the report covers TVA's various activities in unified resource development during fiscal year 1966. It emphasizes the growth and change taking place in the regional economy.

"Manufacturing has grown particularly, and in the past few years manufacturing employment has been a proportionately larger part of total employment than in the Nation as a whole," the report points out.

"On the other hand, although farm employment has been scaling sharply downward as workers sought better paying jobs in urban areas and nonfarm industrial complexes, the region still has a higher proportion of employees in agriculture than the Nation."

The impact of the TVA program on the economy cannot be measured precisely, the report says, because economic progress in the region has resulted from many interacting influences. For example, TVA's expenditures in the region are only a small proportion of the total Federal expenditures in the area for all purposes, and these total expenditures are considerably less per capita than Federal expenditures in the Nation as a whole.

Nevertheless, many specific instances of TVA's influence can be readily identified, the report says. "An example is the industrial development along the Tennessee River, resulting from harnessing of the stream to provide navigation, flood control, and other benefits. Nearly $1.4 billion of private capital has been invested in plants and terminals along the Tennessee River waterway."

TVA programs have played a large part in bringing about increased agricultural and forest production, it says, and other instances are described in the report.

CHAPTER 21
THE TELEPHONE buzzed beside Emily Bowman's bed. She started up, looking at her watch. It was just seven o'clock. A vague feeling of alarm stirred in her as she picked up the receiver.

"A call from Granada for you, senorita," said the operator, and immediately following came Lucie Fernoy's voice, high-pitched and urgent.

"Is that you, Emily? Will you tell my husband he's got to come home immediately? Juana's ill!"

"Oh, I'm sorry. Very ill?"

"Of course she's very ill or I wouldn't be ringing. The doctor was here twice yesterday morning. She's had one of her worst attacks, and it's only because her father's disappeared and her grandmother. She doesn't understand it."

"We're setting out for home today. But we planned to stay the night in Cordoba. I don't think your mother could travel all the way without a rest."

"Then she had no business to go on this crazy trip," Lucie cried. "You should never have encouraged her. You and Patrick."

"Certainly I encouraged her," Emily said. "When you're getting near the end of your life, wouldn't you like to be allowed to do the things that matter to you? We can't argue about this on the telephone, Lucie, but it isn't fair to say Patrick encouraged her, too. He merely came to see me and he merely came to see me."

"Oh, is that what he's doing?" Lucie said in her distraught voice. "Are you sure? Don't tell me he hasn't taken you to see the sights in Toledo. I can just see Mama climbing about those cobble streets."

"Haven't you better speak to your husband yourself?" Emily said stiffly.

"No, no. I'll only be told I fuss unnecessarily about Juana, even though the doctor warns me that another attack today would be dangerous. Can I tell Juana you're on your way?"

"Yes."

"How is Mama?" Lucie asked relatedly.

"Tired, but well."

"I can rely on you, Emily?"

"What is it you mean, you witch? Can you rely on me not to let Patrick enjoy himself, not to let the strain ease out of his face, not to let him forget that he ought to feel guilty all the time?"

"You can rely on me," she said drily.

"Emily, who are you talking to?" came Hannah's voice from the next room.

Emily got out of bed and went in to see Hannah.

"Lucie. She says Juana's ill. Hannah's eyes narrowed. "She wants Patrick back."

"Yes. She says Juana's trying."

To the gentlemen who have suggested we use the title "Fins, Feathers and Furs", we can only explain . . . that was our first choice, however it is already being used in an article of longer standing than this one. Having no knowledge of the legal rights involved here, we chose to use what we assume is "our own".

However the title does not prohibit our discussing any subject which is of interest to any sportsman. A suggestion is all that is needed to start the research and discussion.

Red Thompson and Eerie Thompson were stalking their favorite game Monday night. They treed three and brought home one. Red worked "Lady" and "Jack"; while Eerie was hunting "Curly" and "Moe".

Sorry to learn that Jack Garland has sold the beautiful Black and Tan "Lady".

All efforts to dissuade B. J. McDougal from selling Joe, his Black and Tan, appear to be in vain. Joe will be going to a fine family if he is sold, but if we had a choice all hounds would remain with their original owners.

Being out of touch so often has resulted in no information on the many lost and stolen hounds. We have a number of Setters and Pointers missing, also a Black and Tan and a Redtick. A telephone call reporting the success, or failure, in locating these hounds would be greatly appreciated. Our concern for the safety of our hunting dogs is surpassed only by concern for their masters' safety and well being.

We hope (but doubt) all hunters will hunt nothing wider than a warm fire until some of the ice is melted. You Boons and Crockers who must hunt regardless, please be careful. Half-submerged branches and rocks can be very tricky and treacherous. Of course you are educated to the woods' hazards, but a little extra caution might prevent that one fall.

Wanted: Robert McKenney, Farmington Route 2, James Miller (just your 'coon hound this trip), Johnny Williams, Farmington Route 2, Robert Williams, Murray Route, Jessie Key, Crossland, Tenn., Huel West, Lynn Grove Route 1, and Marvin Lassiter, Hazel Route.

You gentlemen are urged to join the 'Cooners at Twin Lakes Coonhunters Club, Saturday night, January 21st at 8 p.m. Free supper, drawing for Wheat Light and Door Prize. Then you can enter the hunt, and "put the pencil on your hounds". If you do (or don't) win a trophy, what difference does it make? You are sure to enjoy the hunt. The other festivities alone, will be worth any effort you put forth, to attend the Twin Lakes Open House!

This has been our well-kept secret, as this revelation will just naturally give "Tojo" Raspberry a "swelled head". After much pondering the matter, there does not seem to be a logical reason for not passing on this sincere compliment from some Twin Lakes hunters. I remember three hunters who, at different times this week, said almost exactly the same words: "Urge 'Tojo' Raspberry, Shirley and the four youngsters to join us Saturday night." Also, "on different occasions I have hunted with him and he is a good hunter and buddy." Now here is the important part . . . heed this, Tojo! Quote, "He has some top notch hounds, one in particular." How about that? You and your unwarranted wise-crack — "they're just dogs." Shame on you boy. You know better and so do we.

These fellows couldn't remember the name of the hound which showed special promise. Wonder if it was "King", the extra beautiful Black and Tan. Tojo never even hinted as to which hound he considered to be best, at the moment. We wouldn't have believed him if he had, as we'll naturally "root for the one not receiving fair credit" so there smartie. If you don't appear at Twin Lakes Coonhunters Club Saturday night, you have cheated the Black and Tan of some fun. We are expecting you and your family, so meet us.

Henry and Mrs. Major, please choose your favorite Plott hound and join us. There probably won't be as many Plotts entered as some breeds, as you seem to have the majority of these beautiful hounds. Please meet us for supper and the hunt! We'll be expecting you.

Burman Ferguson and Daisy . . . we already have your promise to be there, so do not attempt to "weasel out of it". We are especially counting on you and your hound!

Otis Brown is another "little smartie". He was all set to enlighten us about his hounds, until he learned they might be mentioned in this article. He shut up "like a clam" and twice as fast. Wouldn't even give their names — just that same old remark . . . ah, mine are just dogs, not worth writing about." That is the most unfair statement a dog owner could ever make! Otis has some Black and Tans, Blue-ticks, and what others, we aren't sure. Join us boy, the hounds will make you "eat those words".

Back to this "mine are just dogs" bit. Ted Atkins has a word on the subject. He says the best dogs very often DON'T win, and according to him, he has a first place trophy to prove it. He says "Sam", the big Blue-tick is a good water race dog but is not worth two cents on a wild hunt. Still "Sam" won first place in one of these hunts. Ted declares "every hunter in six counties knows Sam is no hound in this type of hunt." (We aren't buying any part of that). Mr. Atkins urges you to bring any hound and give him a chance. You might be surprised.

We are advised that James Miller, mentioned earlier, raises and sells 'Coon and Fox hounds. Bet he has some Black and Tans. A call from Mr. Miller would be greatly appreciated.

We'll see YOU and YOUR HOUND Saturday night, January 21st at the TWIN LAKES COONHUNTERS CLUB!

Body Of Man Frozen; Attempt Will Be Made To Revive Him Later

PHOENIX, Ariz., 1967 — The body of a 73-year-old California professor who died of cancer has arrived here for storage in a capsule at 230 degrees below zero centigrade for an experiment in bringing persons back from the dead.

Ed Hope, 46, who designed and built the $4,000 capsule in which the body of Dr. James Bedford will be stored, said the body arrived Wednesday night from California.

Bedford, who assertedly volunteered for the experiment, died last Thursday in the Glendale, Calif., home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Vest.

The experiment is being conducted by the Cryonics Society of California. Robert Nelson, president of the society, said it is a "nonprofit society formed to educate the public in the field of cryobiology, which encompasses freezing techniques on all biological matter."

He said similar societies exist in New York, Michigan, France and Sweden. All are incorporated separately.

When a cure for cancer is found, the experimenters said, the body of Bedford will be thawed and an attempt will be made to revive him.

We even found the right places to use the four cap nuts and bolts.

Ah, you should see this beauty now in all its pristine glory. It is made of aluminum and is held together with screws and lock nuts and most important it works. All we need now is a post to put the thing on. We'll try to attend to that little chore today.

There is just no limit to what the mind of man can accomplish.

Sport was looking in the back door early this morning waiting for his breakfast. He has a black mask and you can't see his eyes but you know he is looking at you.

We attended to this right away since we couldn't think of anything more important than to feed such a valuable animal as Sport.

He polished everything off in eight orders and drank about a quart of water and he was all ready for the day. The last we saw of him he was going off to bury a piece of toast. We doubt seriously if Sport ever finds a piece of bread once he buries it.

A goodly number of Jay Birds in the backyard this morning. They seemed to be a darker blue than usual. One brilliant Cardinal and a flock of Juncos.

Driving in we spotted a Starling all hunkered over on a fence post. We noted nothing that maybe he should move to a less conspicuous place since it was about time that old Hawk was making his rounds.

A Forest Fire Control unit just passed the office and it occurred to us that this is a wonderful movie. Makes you feel good to know that there are folks who the primary task of preventing and extinguishing forest fires.

We saw Bro. Paul Hodges will be having Maccos about June 1st. Best wishes to Wallace Key, who in.

SEEN & HEARD

After supper, with great self assurance, we spread the thing all out on the table, got a screwdriver, pliers, and all other necessary tools.

Let's see now, you put ends "A" together with the back piece "B". In addition to that the directions said to put the "X" screws in position "C" only. The kit had a little plastic bag filled with screws, nuts, bolts, washers, etc.

We put one combination together but, even to our unpracticed eye, it was obvious the thing was not going to work.

If it had not been for the oldest at home, we would probably still be there, searching for the right combination. He straightened us out after a casual look at the drawings—and we proceeded with comparative ease from that point on.

Military spokesmen reported 385 guerrillas killed by actual body count and estimated 1952 strikes had killed perhaps 200 more. But the real story of the success of the operation lay in the number of fortifications and amounts of food and ammunition seized.

The main purpose of the operation is to deny the Communists their main headquarters for the Saigon area and make it forever unusable to them as a safe haven. Huge bulldozers are moving out ahead of the advancing troops, ripping out huge sections of the jungle for lanes for gunfire and future mining zones.

The bombing raids into North Vietnam's northernmost regions were designed to cut off the major rail routes by which war supplies are shipped into Hanoi. The Air Force reported three main railroads were ripped apart in spot after spot by 750 pound bombs.

North Vietnam reported Thursday four U.S. planes were shot down. The air spokesman said two planes were lost with three crewmen.

While fighter-bombers struck the North, huge B-52 bombers straddled across South Vietnam's Mekong Delta coastline and dropped tons of bombs into a Viet Cong base camp 22 miles northeast of the resort area of Vung Tau in support of U.S. operations in the South.

Chairman; Mrs. V. N. Albritton, Training Union Chairman; and Elmer Sholar, Promotion Chairman.

Under the leadership of Harry Recker, Sunday School Superintendent, efforts are being made to have a high attendance next Sunday, January 22 and to subscribe the entire budget in one day. A Stewardship Chairman has been selected by each class. These chairmen and the teachers and class secretaries have been calling all the class members this week seeking to have high attendance and high participation in pledging.

The Stewardship Chairmen for the classes are Mrs. Ocie Boyd, Rupert Maynard, Mrs. Bessie Spain, Paul Jackson, Mrs. Cletus Hubbs, Mrs. Coffield Vance, Mrs. Bobby Horning, Ralph Bogard, Robert Snider, Mrs. John Henderson, Linda Cunningham, Edwin Schlar, Steve Arant, Retha Miller, Donny Lyons, Teresa Adams, Randy Ogran, Kenneth Lax, Charissa Lee, Larry Boler, Malinda Taylor, Brad Barnett, and Vicki Roberts.

Parents of elementary children have been urged to help each child to turn in a pledge. The elementary department Superintendents are serving as Stewardship Chairmen and are assisted by their workers. These Superintendents are Mrs. Stacker Coleman, Jr., Mrs. Hayden Rickman, Mrs. Porter Christman, and Mrs. T. O. Shelton, Jr., working with Nursery Children. The Beginner Stewardship Leaders are Mrs. Loudon Stubblefield and Mrs. Elmer Sholar. The Primary Leaders are Mrs. Mahlon Prizell, Mrs. Alfred Taylor, and Mrs. Frank Dalton.

The pastor, Rev. T. A. Thacker, in expressing his appreciation for all these workers and their efforts said, "Sunday will be the climax of the efforts of many people — some not even listed here — and will be the results of much prayer. We are expecting great things from the faithful people of Memorial."
